Administration Moves To Extend Industrial Credit

WOULD OPEN CONDEMNED SOCIALISTS IN RESERVOIRS TO BUSINESS VIENNA SAVED FROM NOOSE

Federal Reserve Bank Head And RFC Chairman Will Make Plans At Meeting
FAVOR DIRECT LOANS
Export-Import Bank Nearly Ready To Open Trade Dealings With Russia

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—New administration moves to promote the current upswing in business by reopening of industrial credit reservoirs were reported near completion today.

President Roosevelt is satisfied that some lines of business are suffering from a lack of credit and has ordered his fiscal assistants to study means whereby a normal flow of credit into business can be attained.

Next week Gov. Eugene P. Black of the Federal Reserve system will confer with Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation on possible Federal legislative or other assistance to help the credit flow.

In this way the administration seeks to facilitate the upswing in the hope that millions of workers can be taken off CWA rolls and absorbed by industry in the summer and fall months.

Some difference of opinion exists among administration advisers as to the best way to accomplish the forcing of credit into business.

Governor Black is believed to be in favor of establishment of a series of intermediate credit banks to make direct loans to industry, while Jesse Jones believes that current government lending operations could be extended to accomplish this end.

Although the Federal Reserve banks have authority and are making direct short term loans to industry, it was recognized that their present set-up is not ample to do this business on a large scale.

This has led to study of the intermediate credit bank idea.

On the other hand, Jesse Jones believes that additional mortgage companies can be formed with RFC money to make direct loans or that a system of matching RFC money 50-50 with commercial banks can be worked out whereby the commercial banks would make loans with RFC assistance.

A general program of credit assistance to business is expected to be sifted out of these various ideas.

UNKNOWN SEAS ARE MAPPED BY ADMIRAL BYRD

Bear Of Oakland Ploughing Back To Little America After Battle
A BOARD THE S. S. BEAR OF OAKLAND, Bay of Whales, Feb. 17.—(UP)—(Via Mackay Radio)—With another great adventure behind her, this 60-year-old vessel is ploughing through more or less open water toward Little America, apparently none the worse for a violent battle with pack ice than threatened to freeze her in.

Having made a number of records, penetrating the unknown 190 miles beyond the record northeast coasting of the British ship Discovery and charting 5,000 square miles of hitherto unknown seas, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd is anxious to reach his base as soon as possible on account of the rapidity with which the bay ice has disintegrated. He fears the difficulty of finding a safe mooring.

Three days ago, during her voyage of exploration, the Bear became surrounded by a thick, heavy, jagged ice pack. For hours Captain R. A. J. English, who boasts Arizona as his native state, directed the Bear north, east, south and west, seeking an opening.

Finally, early Friday morning open water was discerned on the other side of a point of the pack. The passage was about half a mile wide. English ordered the vessel into the pack. The Bear rammed ice blocks and shoved them aside. Often progress was by inches. It was disconcerting at times but there was no backing up because of the danger to the rudder from the jagged ice. Finally, after hours of struggling the ship was maneuvered into the open water.

TAXICAB DRIVER IS KILLED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—The killing of a needy taxicab driver was linked today with a trail of $6,000 loot, seized by three youths in a robbery of the bank of Burlington, Wis.

The driver, Harry Moskowitz, 39, was shot to death beneath the window where his wife and three children awaited his return. His boasting over receiving a $250 tip from one of the bank robbers was blamed for his death.

The three youths were arrested shortly after the killing. They confessed the bank holdup and one revealed that he had given Moskowitz the $250 tip, police said. Police sought to check the whereabouts of scores of taxicab drivers to whom Moskowitz had shown the money shortly before his death.

VARNEY WILL FLY MAILS TO MEXICO

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—(UP)—An airline linking Los Angeles and Mexico City in 10-hour service was assured today when Walter T. Varney, pioneer west coast operator, announced that a two-year airmail contract has been signed with the Mexican government.

Service on the 1750-mile line will be inaugurated Feb. 28. The schedule calls for tri-weekly flights. Officers will be headed by Arturo Cubillas of Mexico City as president, Varney, Donald L. Cardiff, Franklin Rose, G. E. Elias, General Velez Vasquez, Carlos Ramos and Antonio Sanchez Saldana will serve as directors.

Fortune Found In Old Safe By Junk Dealer

NEW LONDON, Conn., Feb. 17.—(UP)—Louie Lubchansky, junk dealer, purchased the decommissioned yacht Hildegarde and all its contents several months ago.

The Hildegarde's safe he sold to a New London business man for $15. He was pretty well disgusted when the purchaser returned the safe and demanded his $15 back because the safe was locked and Lubchansky could not provide a combination.

The safe was around the junk yard several weeks. Finally, unable to restrain his disgust longer, Lubchansky picked up a sledge hammer and delivered three resounding blows. It crumbled and out dropped $10,000 in old large sized $10 bills and about $5,000 in negotiable securities.

CWA WILL DROP 400,000 FROM ROLLS WEEKLY

President Pledges That No One Will Go Hungry After May

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Civil Works Administrator Harry L. Hopkins proceeded today with arrangements to demobilize the entire CWA at a rate of about 400,000 weekly beginning next Friday.

Formal announcement that all of the nearly 4,000,000 persons on CWA payrolls would be dropped by May 1 was accompanied by pledges from President Roosevelt and Hopkins that the government would permit no one to go hungry. It was indicated that those in need would be cared for through the new $500,000,000 fund which congress has made available for relief grants to the states.

Nearly 200,000 workers on CWA federal projects already have been dropped. Further demobilization will begin in the south and in small communities.

Hopkins promised that the CWA would be maintained at its present strength in industrial cities through March. Hours hereafter will be held down to 24 hours weekly in urban areas and 15 in rural communities. "Prevailing rates of wages" will be paid.

BUSHMAN WILL NOT WED OPERA SINGER

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Mrs. Josephine Bushman refused to discuss reports today she and her former husband, Francis X. Bushman, may remarry.

Chicago advises quoting Bushman as saying his engagement with Carmella Ponselle has ended and that a re-marriage with his first wife was likely, encountered stony silence at the home of the first Mrs. Bushman here.

"I have nothing to say about that, one way or another," she said.

Their daughter, Mrs. Jack Conway, likewise withheld comment.

COTTON BILLS ARE APPROVED BY ROOSEVELT

Strict Limitation Of Production Held Best Method For Handling

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today gave his approval to the Bankhead bills for strict limitation of cotton production.

In a letter to Chairman Ellison D. Smith, Dem., S. C., of the senate agriculture and forestry committee, Mr. Roosevelt said he believed the Bankhead bills provided the best method for dealing with the cotton situation.

The Bankhead bills, introduced by Senator John H. Bankhead, Dem., Ala., and Rep. William Bankhead, Dem., Ala., would limit cotton production to 3,500,000 bales through the levy of a prohibitive tax on all cotton gained in excess of that amount.

The president's letter to Chairman Smith:

"My Dear Mr. Chairman: As you know, I have watched the cotton problem with deepest attention during all these months. I believe that the gains which have been made—and they are very substantial—must be consolidated and, insofar as possible, made permanent. To do this, however, reasonable assurance of crop limitation must be obtained.

"In this objective, the great majority of cotton farmers are in agreement. I am told the recent poll by the department of agriculture shows that at least 95 per cent of the replies are in favor of some form of control.

"My study of the various methods suggested leads me to believe that the Bankhead bills in principle best cover the situation. I hope that in the continuing emergency your committee can take action.

"Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) Franklin D. Roosevelt."

WYNEKOOP RETRIAL TO START MONDAY

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Judge Harry B. Miller today said that retrial of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynkoop on charges of murdering her daughter-in-law, Rheta, would begin Monday. Miller ordered his courtroom prepared for the trial.

Workmen placed extra benches to accommodate the crowds which have followed the case in which the 43-year-old woman physician is alleged to have shot and chloroformed her daughter-in-law to collect insurance policies.

The first attempt to try Dr. Wynkoop ended in a mistrial after she suffered several collapses from heart disease.

SUIT CHALLENGES RIGHTS OF BOARD

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 17.—(UP)—Authority of the state board of equalization to assess a tax of two cents per gallon on wine was challenged in a suit on file today in the third district appellate court here.

Pardons Are Granted In Final Hour

Fascist Demands For Hanging Are Ignored Today By President Miklas

VIENNA, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Jail officials, turning back the hands of a clock, saved the lives of six men today and gave a picture of the aftermath of Austria's socialist revolution.

Fascist courts martial condemned the men, who had been found guilty of leading group of socialists in the four-day revolution, to be hanged within six hours.

But jailers delayed the clock until President Wilhelm Miklas, silent during the revolution, dispatched orders for their pardon.

The condemned men were pardoned dramatically. The United Press correspondent was with them. The hour of execution approached. Officials turned back the clock as the three-hour execution period passed. The men were served with coffee, in compliance with their last wish, as the moment approached at which they would be taken to the scaffold. The state's attorney, their prosecutor, ran into the prison, radiant, breathless, and announced their pardon.

"Thank God I am not too late," he said.

Two more socialists were condemned to death after the pardons were issued. It was believed that Miklas would pardon them also.

Fascist demands for hangings and the presidential refusal to permit court martial sentences to be executed left the Vienna situation in doubt.

The Christian socialist president, a leader of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss's party, while he flouted Fascist ambitions to conduct mass hangings of their defeated enemies, seemed to approve of the Fascists themselves.

He decorated Major Emil Fey, vice chancellor and Fascist leader, with the Austrian grand cross, characterizing him as chiefly instrumental in breaking the revolution, "thereby probably marking a turning point in the history of Central Europe."

TRADE TREATY ON AVOCADOES SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Members of the California and Florida congressional delegations met today with Secretary of State Cordell Hull to discuss the possibility of revision of the reciprocal trade treaty with Cuba to permit levying of an import duty on avocados.

Rep. Henry E. Stubbbs, Dem., Calif., said the meeting was simply for the purpose of representing to the secretary what the congressmen considered a "great need" for the duty.

Revision of the treaty must first be recommended to President Roosevelt by the state department. The president then must ask ratification of the treaty revision by the senate. Then a duty may be levied.

NEW NAVAL CRUISER TO SAIL MARCH 12

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Sailing dates for the newly launched U. S. navy cruiser, the 16,000-ton San Francisco, were announced today through naval district headquarters here.

RATIFICATION OF WATERWAY TREATY FADES

Administration's Hopes To Ratify Treaty At This Session Set Back

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—The administration's hopes for obtaining enough votes to ratify the St. Lawrence waterway treaty have received a sharp set-back.

It became apparent today little gain had been made in the drive to rally sufficient support to the controversial treaty, the only current phase of the congressional outlook which carries any great threat to administration prestige.

Ten days ago it appeared as if administration pressure would swing the balance of power to the side of treaty ratification. Recently, however, it has become evident that the two-thirds majority is still lacking, and that a vote on the treaty is still far distant.

The situation has become so embarrassing to the administration, in fact, that Sen. J. Hamilton Lewis, Dem., Ill., who is leading the opposition to the treaty, has taken great delight in tormenting administration leaders on the subject.

Rising with dignified mien from his seat near the rear row, Lewis inquires from time to time if the treaty proponents are ready to set time to vote on the waterway project.

Chairman Key Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee spurs for time.

Administration leaders have canvassed the situation and found that they still need six or seven votes to effect ratification. Opponents of the treaty declare that there are only 45 or 47 votes at the most for it, at present.

An impartial view of the situation shows some dozen uncertain or doubtful votes and the side which gets these will achieve the ultimate victory.

The senate's order of business precludes an early treaty vote, it was in recess today.

NEW PHILIPPINES BILL IS DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Congressional leaders in insular affairs worked today toward a solution of the Philippine independence question which would be acceptable to congress on one side, and to two factions of Filipinos on the other.

At the tenth Philippine independence mission headed by President of the senate Manuel L. Quezon neared the end of its work in Washington, important members of congress hoped a united front might be reached in the Philippine moves before further independence moves are made in the United States, in order to avoid any further possibility of having congressional legislation rejected in Manila.

The meetings will be similar to the ones held here this week by cotton exchange officials Smith said.

He added that if the meetings preceded introduction of the administration's bill for regulation of the commodity exchanges they would be in the nature of informal discussions. If they are held after introduction of the bill they will be in the form of open hearings before his committee.

HEADS OF COTTON EXCHANGES TO MEET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Representative of grain exchanges will be called to Washington, probably next week, for discussion of commodity exchange supervision or regulation, it was announced today by Chairman Ellison D. Smith, Dem., S. C., of the senate agriculture and forestry committee.

The meetings will be similar to the ones held here this week by cotton exchange officials Smith said.

RECOVERY ACT CODES UPHELD IN COURT CASE

San Francisco Judge Says They Supersede State Recovery Codes

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 17.—(UP)—Provisions of the national recovery act supersede those of state codes, Superior Judge Peter J. Shields had ruled today, denying an injunction to San Francisco labor unions in a suit which has held up work on approximately $2,500,000 worth of Northern California highway projects.

As a result of the decision, department of public works officials planned to resume construction activities and open bids on numerous jobs which were held in abeyance pending outcome of the legal action.

The suit was brought by labor unions of San Francisco on the ground that wages paid on a highway project in San Mateo county were lower than those provided in the state's "prevailing wage" code. The action was originally filed in San Francisco, but was transferred here for argument two weeks ago.

Judge Shields in a lengthy opinion, held the money for the San Mateo project came entirely from the federal government, and that the state highway department merely acted as an agent in drawing up the program which was accepted by the federal officials. If the federal government were bound by state codes, said the opinion, it would necessarily have to surrender its discretion at the mandate of state law, or for a small difference be obliged to abandon vast and important projects.

"In short," said Judge Shields, "the whole matter has been conducted according to the terms of the national recovery act, and to the satisfaction of the government, whose project it is. I do not believe that either the state code schedule of wages or the public wage law apply in this case."

The plaintiffs were given 10 days in which to file amended complaints.

SCHWAB CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY ON SUNDAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of Bethlehem steel corporation who reaches his 72nd birthday tomorrow is "retiring" little by little from active participation in business and social affairs, he said today.

Asked if his retirement from business would affect his connection with his steel company, Schwab said:

"I will never retire from the Bethlehem Steel company. This is one job that holds the greatest interest in life for me. I am proud of it. It is my monument."

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 17.—(To the Editor of The Register:) All this argument over who will carry the mail, and if you tore a sack open here is what you would find: Twenty per cent would be chain letters. "Mail this to ten others, it will bring you good luck." And we spend a half billion a year on education. Forty per cent will be asking somebody for an autograph, as I said before we spend a half billion on education. Ten per cent will be Congressional records (and there is not a house that can't pick up their own kindling.) Ten per cent is pamphlets of somebody's scheme, of how to solve something. Ten per cent is bills which won't be paid, so they just as well not send 'em. Ten per cent is newspapers being sent to a place where there is a better paper printed, and that's what a boy risks his life with over the mountain every night.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

LA HABRA MAN BUYS UP LEATHER SCRAPS

LA HABRA, Feb. 17.—With the purchase of 48,500 pounds of leather scraps from the leather coat factories in Los Angeles and San Francisco, A. Silberman, La Habra merchant, has a corner on this product in the state of California. These scraps, which are the trimmings left when leather coats are cut from the large whole pieces of leather, are fashioned into coats, vests, skirts, pillows and purses. They are stitched onto a lining and resemble the old fashioned crazy quilt designs.

These scraps, which are the trimmings left when leather coats are cut from the large whole pieces of leather, are fashioned into coats, vests, skirts, pillows and purses. Students from grammar school through the colleges are using these scraps to such a extent that the fad is becoming a real California novelty. The pieces are mostly in shades of brown, with a small amount of black, white and a few other colors. The most popular shade used is brown.

Silberman is selling this material to Los Angeles stores, which are featuring the articles as a special novelty, with booths erected in the center of the stores up to now have been either waste material hauled away from the factories by the rag pickers or have been sent to glove factories. The craze has been in existence about a month and Silberman states it is gradually creeping to the northern territory. He is now serving Los Angeles, Compton, Whittier, Fullerton, Azusa, Ontario and other towns in Southern California.

Stories Told By Juvenile Suspects Fail To Convince

Failure to tell the truth will keep three boys in the detention home another week, following a hearing in the juvenile court yesterday concerning the theft of three bicycles from the Lathrop school on February 4.

The three boys, all living on Delhi road and aged 15, 14 and 15, failed to convince Judge G. K. Scofield that they were telling the truth so they were ordered to be brought back to court next Friday. They are involved in the theft of wheels owned by James Cook, Raymond McCall and Milton Crawford.

ELDON WINTERS WINS MEDAL IN TALK CONTEST

Eldon Winters was declared winner of a silver medal oratorical contest sponsored by the Santa Ana Women's Christian Temperance Union, in a contest held yesterday afternoon in the Julia Lathrop Junior High school. It was announced today by Mrs. Ora Hicks, director of the contest.

The speaker spoke on the topic, "You," taken, as are all speeches in the contest, from the prescribed speeches assembled in a book by the W. C. T. U.

Seven contestants participated in the contest, including the winner, and Carrol Miller, William Sandon, Jean Linsenbard, Charles Borchart, Marjorie Randall and Constance Brown.

The keynote of the winning talk was to the effect that the kind of character an individual has, whether he takes the right path or the wrong path, is entirely up to the individual himself.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. John Clarkson, E. H. Layton and Miss Edith Cornell. Mrs. J. H. Nicholson presented the medal to the winner.

While the judges were making their decision, Mrs. Hicks gave a reading entitled "Story of Patry," Helen Crowthers gave a reading on "Sue Waters Housekeeping."

Mrs. Hicks asked that all those who have won silver medals contact her at her home, 1222 South Broadway, or telephone 3391-V, to further arrangements for a gold medal contest being planned. It is desired that all winners of silver medals compete in the contest.

He told of the struggle of the impoverished farmers in North Dakota to own their own co-operative elevators similar to the orange co-operatives in Orange county.

It was the fixed policy of gaining sufficient power and voting strength before going to the ballot box that led to ultimate victory, according to Dr. Mills.

He told of the campaign in Wisconsin, which he aided in the overthrow of the machine group controlling both the political parties and after which Bob LaFollette worked toward the establishment of the initiative, the referendum, the recall and the primary laws.

Following the establishment of farmer and state owned elevators in North Dakota, the farmers found that as long as the private elevators owned the banks they were still at the mercy of grain speculators. So they campaigned for a state owned bank. This was finally established after the Non-partisan League went into power. Over 17 progressive measures were established, according to the speaker.

Dr. Mills told of the activity of Charles Lindbergh's father in the league in Minnesota in which the young aviator used his first plane in flying his father all over the state in speaking engagements. Dr. Mills declared the elder Lindbergh would have been elected governor of Minnesota had he lived.

"I resent the imposition that has been placed upon that famous name by giving this fine young man $250,000 in stock in order to persuade the rest of the country to invest in their fraudulent enterprises in connection with the airmail contracts and in securing his signature to a letter to the President to deceive the nation that is now disclosing their fraud," said Dr. Mills.

Declaring that the experiments that were carried on in North Dakota and elsewhere were almost entirely successful and that the administration is now carrying out similar projects, particularly at Muscle Shoals in the government owned town of Norris, the speaker said that the most beautiful spot in America was being constructed under entire government ownership, and that the tenants were in possession of the homes while they lived there, but there was no all time ownership.

Dr. Mills declared he was fighting for Roosevelt and his plans. "I am fighting for Upton Sinclair, for he is fighting for Roosevelt, and they are both fighting for me, for I know that I will only have security when all the rest of us have security."

It was announced by Harry S. Gerhart, director of the People's Forum, that Dr. Mills is speaking next Friday on the subject of "Famous People Whom I Have Met and With Whom I Have Worked." This will be a paid lecture and will be a benefit for the 50 years of service to progressive movements, many of whose beneficiaries the public now enjoys, according to Gerhart.

S. A. MERCHANTS THREE DIVORCE TO BE HEADED DECREES GIVEN BY McDOWELL HERE FRIDAY

Organization and election of officers featured the first meeting of the newly elected members of the Santa Ana Merchants association board of directors with old members yesterday afternoon in James' cafe.

Claude McDowell, manager of Weber's Bakery, was elected president of the association to succeed Walter Swanberger, retiring president. Rodney G. Bacon, district manager of the Southern California Edison company, was elected vice president; Gilbert P. Campbell, printer, was re-elected treasurer, and A. Cavalli was re-elected secretary.

The treasurer and secretary were elected to serve for one year. Alternate directors who will serve for six months and who will meet with the board of directors at every meeting were Walter Nelson and Charles Bradford.

Directors present at the board meeting yesterday were McDowell, Swanberger, Gene Kahen, Campbell, Bruno Alquist, Frank Angel, Bacon, L. E. Coffman and Milton Harding. James N. Harding was not able to be present.

Directors who were retired are Walter Swanberger, Gene Kahen, Sam Harrell, Jerry Hall and V. L. Motry. A vote of thanks was extended for the work of the retiring officers and directors.

Three divorces were granted yesterday in superior court, one by Judge H. G. Ames and the other two by Judge G. K. Scofield.

Mrs. Phyllis Edson was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Royce A. Edson when she testified before Judge Ames that her husband continually criticized her management of family finances, her housekeeping and cooking. She also said that her husband insisted on his mother living with them for weeks and months in spite of the fact that he knew his mother nagged and bossed his wife. She also charged that on January 13 her husband struck her and knocked her down. The Edsons were married August 10, 1930, in Brea and separated January 25, 1934.

Nathan Levens was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from his wife Mrs. Pearl Levens. He testified before Judge Scofield that his wife called him vile names and accused him of associating with other women. In 1925, according to his testimony he returned from Los Angeles one night at midnight and saw his wife getting into an automobile driven by another man. The Levens were married April 17, 1917, in Los Angeles and separated January 13, 1934.

Judge Scofield granted Mrs. Louise Baird a divorce from Raymond E. Baird on her charge of desertion. The Bairds were married October 30, 1924 in San Bernardino and according to Mrs. Baird her husband deserted her April 30, 1930.

Arrangements were being made today to hold funeral services for Mrs. Bessie May Pierce, 63, resident of Santa Ana from 1907 to 1920, who was killed in an automobile accident when the car in which she was riding, driven by her son, D. B. Pierce of Loma Linda, skidded and crashed to a telephone pole just east of Ontario, Thursday night. Death was believed caused injuries.

Frankfort, Mich., she moved to Santa Ana from Beaumont, Texas. She was a member of the First Methodist church of this city.

Besides her son, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Vivian Clark of Los Angeles, and a brother and sister who live in the East.

FEDERAL COURT CONTACTS MAN IN STOCK DEAL

George L. Keller, 47, Los Angeles salesman and alleged swindler, was back in the Orange county jail today following his conviction in Los Angeles federal court yesterday on 18 counts of misuse of the mail in selling and not delivering stock in the Ford Motor company of Germany.

Keller was accompanied to the jail by Howard Shores, 47, convicted jointly with him. Gus Shores, brother of the prisoner but was found guilty on one count but was not brought here while J. L. Keller, nephew of the other prisoner, was acquitted. Keller and Shores have indicated that they will seek new trials and if that fails, to appeal their cases. They will come up for sentence on Monday.

Keller came into prominence here last June, July and August, when he posted a total of $15,000 to escape from jail on charges of grand theft and violation of the securities act. He was first booked on June 13 on the grand theft but put up $10,000 bail. Before he could get away, two bonds of $2500 each were required on two other counts.

Keller operated here in 1929 and 1930, and with some associates, conducted first the International Securities company and later the United States Foreign securities company. They sold considerable stock, chiefly in the Ford company, but made no deliveries.

In May, 1933, he was arrested on a federal indictment in San Diego, had bail set at $5000 and was transferred to Santa Ana. He posted the San Diego bail and then was faced with the complaint of Mrs. Lettie Schumacher of Santa Ana, charging him with grand theft of $5000.

He came before Acting Justice of the Peace Chris Pann on August 8 after many legal delays, and was released. Judge Pann held that a crime had been committed but it was outside of Orange county and there was no jurisdiction in his court.

It is believed that Keller defrauded many county residents of worthless stocks on the grounds that check can be made because many of the victims are loathe to report their losses. It is possible that several of these persons will be induced to ask for grand jury indictments against Keller in Los Angeles, so that he can be brought to trial after he finishes his penitentiary term, providing the federal judge sentences him.

SANTA ANA PLAYERS SCORE BIG HIT IN PRESENTATION OF "BILL OF DIVORCEMENT"

By ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Achieving such a marked success that not a single member of a well balanced cast fell below a professional standard, Santa Ana Community Players may well be accorded four stars to mark their production of Clemence Dane's "A Bill of Divorcement" which last night had its Santa Ana stage premiere in Ebell auditorium and tonight will be given its final performance.

One of the largest audiences ever to assemble in this city for a first night production in the club-house for the rise of curtains on a small English country home in which the action of the play takes place. This audience sat spell-bound as the play moved steadily to its dramatic conclusion, gripped by the strong emotions portrayed so adequately by a cast directed by Gladys Simpson Shafer.

There were relieving light touches injected into this stark drama of human lives, touches of humor requiring the same fine skill as the grimly emotional scenes. And the whole production had the almost unprecedented effect in this city of admittedly cold audiences, of leaving onlookers chained to their seats after the final curtain, until the cast, and finally the director, appeared to accept the whole-hearted and enthusiastic applause.

To take the Players in the order of their appearance, Miss Marian Bruner, new to Community Player roles, gave to the part of "Margaret Fairfield," one of the finest pieces of emotional work ever seen on the local stage. There was a fine restraint and a deep sincerity in her handling of the character that made it one of the strongest parts in the play—far stronger and better developed than it was in the screen version which Santa Ana saw a year or so ago.

"Miss Hester Fairfield" as played by Gertrude Horn (Mrs. Robert Horn) was quite perfectly the British maiden lady to whom church and the conventions are the breath of life. Her dress, makeup and speech were all intensely amusing with no loss of dignity and with no touch of the grotesque.

As for the interpretation of "Sidney Fairfield" by Clara Kate Owens, it was done with that "spark of the divine fire" which this gifted young player truly possesses. She offered with rare intelligence, exactly what the author must have had in mind in writing a bitter and tragic study of heredity and British legal conditions. It was a role totally different from others in which she has won merited praise, and fully demonstrated her dramatic gifts.

Miss Evelyn Metzger had one of those minor roles so essential to plot development, and necessitating the same careful attention to the dramatic unities as the starring roles. She succeeded in making "Bessie" a very real and convincing character.

Offering by far the best work in any Players' production to date, John Colwell brought to the difficult role of "Gray Meredith," a convincing firmness and stability that set the character apart from the stormy, tumultuous nature of the other leading characters. His work was smooth and entirely convincing, and like that of a member in the cast, was done with a fine sense of restraint and dignity.

J. Wylie Carlyle's "Kit Pumphrey" was a thoroughly delightful English youth, gay and touched with humor. The youthful spontaneity of his love scenes with "Sidney" and his contacts with "Miss Hester" provided the humorous high lights of the production, and proved his capability of handling a more ambitious part than he had yet played.

With so many characterizations of high standard, it would be difficult to say any one part was outstanding. But if it were to be said, there is no doubt but what it would be in regard to J. Leslie Steffenson's interpretation of "Hilary Fairfield." Those who have read or seen "Bill of Divorcement" will recall this tragic figure of a shell shocked war veteran seeking his home and family after years spent in an asylum. Steffenson's portrayal was a mastery one which held the audience tense by its drama and its pathos. His sudden hysterical outbursts, the pathos of his realization and his response to a daughter's devotion, were poignant and gripping.

"Dr. Elliott" was played by Frank Lansdown with his usual finesse and convincing quality, and while only a small part, was given that same polish and distinction that marked the heavier roles. This applies as well to J. Parley Smith's portrayal of the "Rev. Christopher Pumphrey," a narrow, self-righteous priest giving some of the necessary lighter and more humorous touches.

Muscle between acts maintained the high level of the evening, and was presented by Elwood Bear's Junior Violin ensemble with Miss Beatrice Gramas as accompanist. Especially fine was the Concerto played by Miss Audrey Gramas to the accompaniment of the ensemble. Members of this group of junior musicians are Audrey Gramas, Jean Hopkins, Lorraine Turk, Mercedes Kellogg, Barbara Gerard, Sylvia White, Eleanor Barrett, Leo Robbins, Todd Drake, Lloyd Robbins, Richard Keefe, Merion Hicks.

GOLF EMPTY WITHOUT JONES

But Robot Robert Returns To Fairways Next Month HE BRINGS BACK MEMORIES

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Just how much Mr. Jones meant to the game of golf will be demonstrated late next month down in Georgia, when he goes to the wars again in the Augusta National tournament.

When Mr. Jones steps up to the first tee and lays into one with that big, black driver of his, it will be the first time since the dramatic afternoon stroke since that dramatic afternoon stroke when he rolled a putt across the green to give him the amateur championship and complete his grand slam that probably will survive through the ages.

That was upwards of four years ago, that afternoon at Merion, but none of the 18,000 who saw it have forgotten. When Mr. Jones teed off against Gene Homans in the final round three of the world's great golfing trophies were his. He had blazed through the British Open at Sandwich, the British Amateur at Hoylake, and the American Open at Interlachen. Victory against Homans and he would have turned the feat thought beyond the skill of any mortal.

Standing on the 29th tee, a two-shooter with an island green tucked away in the woods, Jones was dormie eight. Playing down a fairway that was lined with spectators 12 to 15 rows deep, both men were in two. After a quick glance at the cup, and in a silence so deep one could hear the wind rustling through the chestnut and willow trees, Mr. Jones brought calamity Jane back and the ball alighted across the green to stop within a whisper of the hole. Homans stabbed straight for the cup in an effort to keep the match alive, but the ball rolled past—and all hell broke loose.

With a shout that shook the earth, the 18,000 worshippers of the game and of the man who had mastered it, swarmed down on him. So great was the crush, as the thousands fought to be near their hero, that the little stream which meandered about the green was choked with men, women and children, and Mr. Jones lost half his shirt and all his good humor before being rescued by a squadron of marines.

That was the last of the great golf mobs. The customers quit with Mr. Jones. Our big tournament since Mr. Jones settled down to his law work have drawn only a handful as compared to the army which tramped over hill and vale and dale in Mr. Jones' wake. But as we said earlier, before we started reminiscing, Robert Robert will bang down the fairway and arch 'em to the pin again next month. And it's our guess that despite Augusta's limited population (40,542 by 1930 census) the tournament will draw any of 1934. Most of the pros and many of the amateurs that Mr. Jones used to manhandle before his retirement will be there for one more shot at him.

This time their quest may be successful, for advances from Atlanta are to the effect that Jones has slipped so badly that he has as few as six birdies on his card.

Tustin Hi's crack Class B basketball team ended its 1934 hoop season undefeated by downing Garden Grove, 22-19, at Tustin last night.

Far different from previous Tustin games, the first three quarters were hotly contested, ending with the "Little Farmers" only three points in the lead, 16-16. But in the fourth period, Tustin cut loose to score 13 digits to 2. In the first period the champions were held to a bare 4-2 lead, and succeeded in enlarging their lead only three points in the second. At one time in the third quarter the game was tied up 15 all, but repeated baskets by Albert Reeve, Farmer forward, gained a substantial lead for Tustin in the fourth.

Other Class B results: Huntington Beach 23, San Juan Capistrano 14; Anaheim 42, Orange 20; Newport Harbor 27, Brea-Olinda 21.

FLOYD VAUGHAN IN BENEFIT BALL GAME

Floyd "Arkie" Vaughan, sensational young Fullerton shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will play in a benefit game tomorrow for the Cypress unemployed, along with a host of other baseball celebrities, including Lin Storti of the St. Louis Browns and Willard Herbersberger, Fullerton catcher recently farmed by the Yankees to Hollywood.

Among the other ball players who have signified their intention of taking part are Lee Stine, Earl Stoner, Joe Storti, Homer Hurst, Floyd Hatfield, Ed and Leavitt Daley, Otto Brandie, Jimmy Hughes, Joe Mene, Ray Edwards, "Pinkie" Herman and Roy Edwards.

The occasion will be a "homecoming" of a number of players who were members of Steve Luther's Cypress club of several years ago. Luther's outfit will meet John Nash's La Habra team at 2 o'clock. An added attraction will be a greased pig contest.

FRESHMEN FAVORED IN DON CLASS MEET

Represented by a well-balanced team of former prep stars, the underclassmen, captained by Hurdler Lucian Wilson, are favored to win the 34 title. Captain Ray Hoar's sophomores are strong only in a few events.

Paul Jacques, who competed for the California varsity last season, is enrolled here as a sophomore, and will be eligible for the interschool affair. A high jumper who has scored 6'4, he undoubtedly will win this event for the upperclassmen, and also expects to pick up points in the hurdles, javelin and discus.

Freshmen who have signed for the two-day event are Al Parr, 100, 220, broad jump; Lucian Wilson, hurdles; Rudy Holman and "Chuck" Malbon, mile; Walt Krings, hurdles; Loren Lukens, pole vault; Glenn Bishop, high jump, pole vault; Clair Preininger, pole vault; Ray Sides, 100 and 220; Wilburn Anderson, shot, discus and broad jump; Ray Craft, 440 and 880; Al Clark, two-mile; John Thompson, javelin; Meese, javelin; E. Bauman, 100, 220, 440; Allen, mile and two-mile; Geren, high jump, shot put; Frank Kroener, high jump.

Leading sophomores are Ray Hoar, hurdles, high jump, 100; Alex Clark, javelin, broad jump; Ben Slavin, broad jump; Bob Hafer, shot put; Bob Arundell, broad jump, 100; and Paul Jacques, high jump, javelin, discus.

Frank Ronsholdt, sophomore discus runner, has just recovered from a case of poison ivy, and will not compete.

Reveal Plans For Cecil Smith Lost To Texas Poloists

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Howard Kinsey, tennis professional, today revealed plans for a Pacific Coast professional tennis tournament in which between 20 and 25 players would compete, probably at Los Angeles. Kinsey said that the promoters were seeking Ellsworth Vines before completing arrangements. From the same authority it was learned that Henri Cochet did not plan to include the coast on his present tour.

CHAFFEY FIVE FAVORITE OVER DONS TONIGHT

Since transferring from the Western to the Eastern division in 1932, Santa Ana junior college basketball opponent except Chaffey's Panthers, who come here from Ontario tonight for a league game with Coach Bill Cook's Dons in Andrews' gymnasium, at 7:30. When they met in '32 the Panthers massacred Santa Ana, 53-25, in the first game held in the new conference. Coach "Muggs" Mitchell of Chaffey remarked that never had he seen some of his teams so hot before. With Santa Ana on its way to a league championship after four consecutive victories last season, including a 21-27 upset over Riverside, the Dons went to Ontario to receive a 49-41 defeat.

Chaffey is heavily favored in the third meeting. Comparative records point to a one-sided fray, but the Dons have been drilling hard during the past week, and can be counted on for a struggle.

The seasonal scores:
Chaffey 51; Citrus 21.
Chaffey 42; Pomona 15.
Chaffey 29; San Bernardino 27.
Chaffey 22; Riverside 43.

Santa Ana 33; Pomona 25.
Santa Ana 25; Citrus 21.
Santa Ana 22; Riverside 47.
Santa Ana 20; Fullerton 21.

Chaffey's 42-25 reversal at Riverside was partially attributed to a slippery floor, although it is doubtful whether the Panthers could have won from the Bengals even under more favorable conditions. In their decisive wins over Citrus, Pomona and San Bernardino, the Panthers have employed various combinations. Their tentative line-up against Santa Ana sends Wayne Wheatley and Don Curry forward, Cy Gunstream to center, Gilbert Doll and Bert Nichols to guard.

Bob Schwarm, who has been the shining light of the past two games, and Alex Clark will operate at guard for Santa Ana, with Harold Youel at center, Ed Bragg and Clair Preininger at forward. This line-up, which has started every league game, was due to a change this week. Coach Cook planned to promote Jimmie Lash, scrappy reserve, to a regular forward or guard position, but employment will prevent Lash from reporting tonight. Other reserves, however, who probably will see service are Stoddard and Hurley, forwards; Kroener, center, and Stoddard, guard.

The standings:
Riverside 4 1 .800
Chaffey 3 1 .750
San Bernardino 2 2 .500
Santa Ana 1 3 .250
Fullerton 0 4 .000
Citrus 0 4 .000

Games Tonight
Chaffey at Santa Ana, Citrus at Fullerton; San Bernardino at Pomona; Riverside, bye.

Paul 'Pulls' Muscle, Out For 6 Weeks

Santa Ana's Norman Paul, National champion low hurdler, was hobbling about on crutches today, his future in track seriously threatened. Paul "pulled" a leg muscle while broad-jumping in the annual Intercollegiate Southern California meet at the Los Angeles Coliseum yesterday. Examining physicians said he would be lost to the Trojans at least six weeks. Other experts doubted whether the Santa Ana boy would compete again this season.

Paul last year broke the world's record in the 220 yard low hurdle, running the distance in 23 seconds. He also is a consistent 24-foot broad-jumper.

The juniors noted out the seniors, 52-49, in the Trojan meet. Winn's 4:23 mile; Abbott's 10-flat race in the 100, and 21 flat race in the 200 meters; Paul Jungkelt's 33-foot hop in the broad jump, Sefton's 13:6 vault over the bar, and Ray Cartwright, freshman from Santa Ana, finished fourth in the half-mile. Doyle Gilbert, Santa Ana broad-jumper, did not compete.

DONS SPANK SAINTS IN BASEBALL DEBUT

Inaugurating their annual "Civil war" baseball series, Santa Ana's Dons defeated Santa Ana's Saints, 7 to 2, in a seven-inning practice game at Poly field yesterday. Player-coach Ben Koral's collegians proved too powerful for Coach Clyde Cook's prep line, with Pitchers Gordon Mallett and Ray Furuta striking out six each and limiting the opposition to four hits. Fred Erdhaus, Nieblas and Jesse Ojeda worked for the losers.

Koral, regular catcher, lifted the ball high over left field fence in the second inning for the season's first home run. The bases were empty.

S. A. LONG BEACH SKEET CLUBS MEET

BATTAGLIA FUMBLES TITLE BOUT CHANGE

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Vince Dundee, middleweight champion, and his prospective challenger, Frankie Battaglia, Winnipeg, Canada, proved disappointments to Chicago fight fans last night, and tentative arrangements for a title bout between them next month were cancelled today by the Chicago stadium.

By rallying in the late rounds Dundee barely won a 10-round decision from Ben Juby in the 10-round main bout.

ROSS OFFERED L. A. BOUT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Barney Ross, holder of both lightweight and junior welterweight boxing crowns, leaves for San Francisco tomorrow night, carrying in his pocket an offer to meet either Victor Peterson or Ceferno Garcia in a non-title engagement here. The joint offer was proffered by the Olympic. Ross said he would decide to reject or accept the offer after his match with Frankie Klick, March 4.

FABER, LAST OF SPITBALLERS IN MAJORS, OUI TS

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—The last of the spitball pitchers passed out of the major leagues today when Urban "Red" Faber, for 20 years a pitcher with the Chicago White Sox, announced his retirement from baseball.

Faber announced his retirement after a conference with Lou Comiskey, owner of the White Sox. He is 44. He joined the White Sox in 1914, when Al Simmons, the star of the team last year, was only 11 years old.

The only other spitball pitcher on a major league roll is Bursleigh Grimes of the St. Louis Cardinals. Grimes announced his retirement last fall, but since has said he may try a comeback this season.

Last season Faber worked in 35 games, winning 3 and losing 4. He was fifteenth in the league on the earned-run basis with .345, his best earned-run mark in 11 years. The retirement of Faber followed by one day that of another one of the few "old-timers" in baseball, Eppa Rixey, tall left hander of the Cincinnati Reds. Rixey said the game had "gotten too tough" for him.

GLENN WRIGHT RELEASED BY BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Glenn Wright, one of the outstanding shortstops of the past decade, has been given his unconditional release, the Brooklyn Dodgers announced today.

Wright is 32. He has been in professional baseball for 13 years, five of which were with the Pittsburgh Pirates and five with Brooklyn. He was field captain of the Dodgers last year, but had a poor season because of the recurrence of an old arm injury. He also had trouble with Manager Max Carey.

S. A. LONG BEACH SKEET CLUBS MEET

Santa Ana meets Long Beach here tomorrow at 10 a. m. in the second inter-team skeet shoot of this season at the Twenty Ranch Gun club. Last Sunday Santa Ana was defeated by the Waltonians No. 1 team, National champions last year.

FULLERTON HAS 19-16 EDGE IN SPIRITED FRAY

Heated rivalry, embittered by years of athletic relations, created another unpleasant episode between Santa Ana and Fullerton high schools here last night before and after Coach Glenn Lewis visiting Indians rallied in the final quarter of a basketball game to defeat Coach Reese Greene's Saints, 19-16.

Late in the second half, with Santa Ana still clinging to a slim lead it had enjoyed most of the game, Center Fred Southworth of the Saints collided with Odell Whitfield, Fullerton guard, and the two players began a short scuffle in which Southworth kicked Whitfield twice in the side. When time was called to settle the controversy, Jim Jewett, Fullerton forward, ran across the court and slapped Southworth in the face. Referee Stewart White of Orange separated the two and ordered Jewett off the court. A double foul was levied on Whitfield and Southworth, and everything progressed smoothly again until after the game, when another fist fight occurred.

Student fans swarmed over to the scores' table, where the fourth-quarter controversy was being discussed. Words came to blows between Francis Conrad, former Saint football star, and a husky Fullerton fan, and the two exchanged several punches before Dr. Emmett Raitt and Coach Greene could separate them. There were other minor tiffs, but no serious conflicts occurred.

Led by Thomas Berkeley, dusky captain, the visitors found the basket in closing minutes to decrease Santa Ana's lead of 16-10 to 16-15. Then the fleet Negro stole under the rim for a set-up to give Fullerton a 17-16 advantage with two minutes remaining. The Indians dropped in another field goal to sew up the victory.

Fullerton presented a superior floor game on offense as well as defense, and trailed most of the evening because the Saints had amazing success on long throws. Leonard Lockhart and Tom Lacy each caged two field goals from mid-court, and Erwin Yoeul made all of his six points from comparatively long range.

Santa Ana and Fullerton arranged the game as a warm

BOOK REVIEWS

By BRUCE CATTON

In "The Cat's Paw," Clarence Budington Kelland muses on things that might happen if a cultured Chinese suddenly should become mayor of a typical American city. The result is an amusing satire on our municipal politics.

The son of an American missionary to China comes back to his home town in America. He has been in China ever since he was 4; reared and educated there, he is to all intents and purposes a Chinese, understanding nothing of American life.

Chance throws him in with a clear-chewing politician, who is hunting a harmless stuffed shirt to make a losing campaign for mayor. The lad from China looks like ideal timber, so he is nominated. Then, to the horror of his backers, an accident gives him the election and he takes office.

Immediately he is thrown up against all the regular problems of city government—graft, petty trading, racketeering, and all the odds and ends of political chicanery which swirl about the ordinary city hall.

He wants to be honest, and nobody will help him. He is threatened, cursed, blackmailed, framed, and then he goes to his friends in the local Chinese colony for help, and turns and gangsterism are an old story to Chinese.

They invent and perfected such things before America was discovered, and they know tricks American politicians and gangsters never dreamed of.

Our mayor fights fire with fire, opposes Chinese trickery to the American variety, and fights the gangsters with ingenious Chinese gangsters—and, in the end, comes triumphantly out on top.

It's a lot of fun to read, and it's pretty good satire. It is published by Harpers.

"The First Billion," by John K. Winkler, is a vivid journalistic biography of the elder James Stillman, the tight-lipped genius who took the National City bank of New York when it was just another bank and raised it to the topmost pinnacle of greatness.

It is journalistic in the best sense. The journalist writes history bluntly and without frills. That is the way Mr. Winkler has written this biography, and it is a good one.

Stillman, says Mr. Winkler, was one of the first of the great rake-off boys; those bankers who discovered that finding an industrial firm in need of funds offered a great opportunity to get in on the ground floor.

He took over the National City when it had resources of around $12,000,000, and made it the first billion-dollar bank on this side of the Atlantic.

All this came from somewhere, of course, and Mr. Winkler gives you a glimpse of how it was done—and, in the process, tells some interesting bits of American history.

He also gives a good portrait of Stillman himself; the autocratic, passionless man who disapproved of his wife and coolly expelled her to France for 25 years, declaring publicly that she was a drug addict, which she was not, forbidding their children to mention her name.

But Mr. Winkler makes it clear that the elder Stillman, for all his faults—his rapacity, his lack of a social conscience—was at least a banker. Not for him were the super-salesman devices of the ineffable Mitchell.

He ran a bank, not a promotional enterprise, and he ran it in 100 per cent fashion.

All in all, this is a readable and entertaining book. It is published by Vanguard.

An excess of ballyhoo has been very harmful to "The Cadaver of Gideon Wyck," by Alexander Laing (Farrell and Rinehart).

The publishers have blurred this book as an overwhelming intense and thrilling horror story. They urge you not to read it unless you can stand a terrific shock. They assert that it combines the best features of Edgar Allen Poe and "Dracula."

Well, it just doesn't.

It's really a straightaway murder mystery. The scene is a medical school. A member of the faculty goes insane just as he finds how to exert prenatal influence so as to cause hideously deformed monsters to be born.

He himself thereupon gets killed and his embalmed corpse is found in the mortuary of the medical school basement. A student is suspected, and to clear his name he has to run down the murderer.

As a mystery, it's fair. As a horror story, it's a flop. It creates distaste rather than horror; you don't especially need strong nerves to read it, but you do need a strong stomach, in the dissecting room and mortuary portions.

"Two o'Clock Courage," by Gelett Burgess (Robbs-Merrill), is somewhat better.

A visitor in Boston gets tapped on the head and loses his memory. He finds himself on a suburban street at 2 a. m., covered with blood and carrying a revolver, and he can't remember who he is, where he's been, or what he's done.

Next day he finds that a theatrical magnate was murdered in a house near the spot where he himself was wandering.

He is suspected of having committed the murder. Since he can remember nothing, he even suspects himself. In sheer self-defense he has to stick around and help solve the crime.

The result is a pretty fair story, although it is entwined with one of the stickiest romances ever put between covers.

AUGUST TWILIGHT

Before me lie the evening fields;
The corn and fragrant clover.
And tall tobacco greener than
The waves where gulls go over.

Above me in the quiet sky
The clouds in slow herd follow
A brown sun down the worn-out west.

Below me in the darkened grass
The crickets let their laughter
Creak hollowly to fill the dusk
Of white nights coming after.

I place the swallow and the clouds,
The crickets and the clover
Deep in the pocket of my heart
As one more day goes over.

The outline of your moccasin.
Or mark the shreds of wampum

The hollow where you love to

Your briefest touch evoked a spell
That made the withered leaves to spin
All day. You thought I could not tell.

The outline of your moccasin.
And when the vagrant South wind fell
To playing on its violin
Odd bits like any harlequin,
I knew the pain of your farewell

"WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD" AT WALKER STATE

"Wild Boys of the Road" comes to Walker's State theater tomorrow for a three-day run as a vivid depiction of what a half million boys and girls in their teens are going through in this country.

Walker's State will show a double bill for the three days, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the other feature being "The Wrecker," starring Jack Holt, a tremendously powerful film drama based on the earthquake which rocked Southern California about a year ago. Genevieve Tobin portrays Holt's erring wife. It is a first run picture.

The smashing and heart-rending drama of the times is told in "Wild Boys of the Road." It is a story of young America that has strayed from protective fire-sides. The leading feminine role is played by Dorothy Coonan, while Frankie Darro, Edwin Phillips and Sterling Holloway play the leading male roles.

The great earth tremor is the climatic episode of a series of well-knit, dramatic situations in "The Wrecker," and supplies one of the most intense thrills possible. All the horror, panic and chaos of the earthquake have been portrayed. Jack Holt has one of the most powerful roles in his popular history. He catches the spirit of "the wrecker," broken and frustrated, but who later resolves to try again for his boy's sake.

Another chapter of the Buck Jones serial "Gordon of Ghost Valley," and a one-reel novelty film complete the bill.

FASHION REVUE FOR BROADWAY SET FEB. 25

New 1934 fashions for women make the picture "Fashions of 1934," coming to the Broadway theater Sunday, February 25, the big hit that it is.

With a cast which includes William Powell, as a racketeering style promoter, Bette Davis, Frank McHugh, Verree Teasdale and many others, the picture does not miss a single trick at showing the latest in what women will wear this year, and coming so early in the year, even has the news reels scraped.

At the same time, the plot, which shows how styles are created, stolen and copied and sold, with the inevitable arrest and then release, romance, dashes for freedom and action throughout, makes the picture well worth seeing.

LAST TIMES FOR WESTERN TONIGHT

"The Fighting Parson," starring Hoot Gibson, most popular of Western screen heroes, which plays for the last time tonight at Walker's State theater, is an appealing romantic drama with a background of side-splitting comedy. The picture is full to the hilt with the atmosphere of the great west and is packed with action.

One of Walt Disney's most popular Silly Symphonies, "King Neptune," done all in color, is an added attraction on the bill. Short subjects on the program include a new reel, serial and a two-reel comedy.

Gable, Colbert To Show March 10

"It Happened One Night," starring Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, will come to the Fox West Coast theater on March 10, according to Lester J. Fountain, Santa Ana manager, who booked the picture yesterday, he said.

"WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD"

"Wild Boys of the Road," one of the most talked of pictures of the season, opens at Walker's State theater tomorrow for a three-day run. Frankie Darro, male star of the film, is shown here with a cake. The other feature of the double feature bill is "The Wrecker," a drama built around the Southern California earthquake, starring Jack Holt.

NOW SHOWING HERE

JOHN BOLES SINGS IN NEW FILM; 'GOOD DAME' ALSO COMING

John Boles sings again in his new picture, "Beloved," which with "Good Dame," starring Frederic March and Sylvia Sydney, comes to the West Coast theater Wednesday for five days. It was announced today by Lester J. Fountain, manager.

"Beloved" is a musical romance of the first water, said to be the best the screen has offered since "Be Mine Tonight."

In "Good Dame," March and Sydney are seen together for the first time since they played "Merrily We Go To Hell." It is the story of a "good dame" who fought hard to save her reputation. March is said to give an unusually clever performance.

MURDER MYSTERY AT WALKER'S SOON

Hair-raising thrills and breath-taking suspense inspired by several cleverly executed murders will keep spectators in constant suspense in "Before Midnight," which opens at Walker's State theater Wednesday for a two-day run. Ralph Bellamy plays the part of Detective Trent, while the romantic roles are assigned to June Collyer and Arthur Pierson, two of the screen's more popular juveniles.

The other feature in the double feature bill is "Brief Moment," starring Carole Lombard, and is an adaptation of the successful Broadway play. The story is sophisticated and modern. A single reel novelty film completes the program.

AT BROADWAY SUNDAY

Allen Jenkins and Joan Blondell are again teamed in the picture, "I've Got Your Number," a fast, exciting comedy, which comes to the Broadway theater Sunday. On the same program will be shown "Man of Two Worlds," with Francis Lederer.

TWO BIG FILMS "CAROLINA" IS DUE THURSDAY MAKING BIG HIT AT BROADWAY AT WEST COAST

Two particularly attractive pictures are booked for the Broadway theater for three days starting next Thursday.

"The Lost Patrol," featuring Victor McLaglen, Boris Karloff, Wallace Ford and Reginald Denny is said to be more inspiring than "The Big Parade" or "What Price Glory." It is the tale of 11 men of the Foreign Legion abandoned in the midst of hostile Arabs.

Their internal strife, skirmishes with prowling Arabs, memories of the women they left behind, the realism of stark despair and their ordeal from the tense drama which goes to make the picture outstanding entertainment.

The other feature is "Coming Out Party," starring Frances Dee. Others in the cast with leading roles are Gene Raymond, Allison Skipworth, Nigel Bruce, Harry Green and Jessie Ralph.

This is a story which gives away all the secrets of what mothers have to do when their daughters are given their coming out parties. Scores of debutantes were used in making the picture.

Critics declare that the acting of Lionel Barrymore in "Carolina," which is now showing at the West Coast theater is the best that he has turned in several years, but at the same time, he does not steal any of the glory of the picture from petit Janet Gaynor, who has the other important role in the production.

A romance of the old South, of hard times and true love, "Carolina" tells a simple story with remarkable acting and has strong appeal to all sorts of theater goers.

The story concerns a little Yankee girl who tries to take care of her two younger brothers by raising tobacco on a sharing basis with a proud old Southern family which is penniless, but too proud to admit it. Barrymore plays the role of the old Colonel and Henrietta Crossman as his sister-in-law, is mistress of the ranch. Robert Young is the son.

How Janet is looked on as "poor white trash"; how Young beats down his parents' objection to marry her, the fights she has with the family, form an exceptional vehicle for the stars. Stepin Fetchit creates the comedy as the slow moving butler, and others in the cast include Richard Cromwell, Mona Barrie and Russell Simpson.

"Hold That Girl" is the other feature showing on the same program. It stars the sweethearts of "Jimmy and Sally," Jimmy Dunn and Claire Trevor and is a racy, romantic comedy filled with wisecracks and bubbling over with youth.

ALLAN WATSON SOLOIST FOR CLUB CONCERT

When Cantando club members present their second concert of the season next Tuesday night in the Orange Union High school auditorium, they will present as guest artist, one of the leading baritone of Los Angeles, Allan Watson.

Leon Eckles, club director, and his members today expressed the belief that Watson would prove to be the best liked of any soloist ever appearing with them.

Tuesday night's program will begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock, and will feature a few songs which have proven prime favorites on earlier Cantando programs. Chief among these is that blood-stirring national anthem of Wales, "March of the Men of Harlech," with which the evening's program will be launched. Protheroe's "Shadow March," with its quaint verses by Robert Louis Stevenson, is another which patrons will recall as having enjoyed once before, and of course "Annie Laurie" will be familiar to everyone—and popular with everyone.

SWISS YODELERS TO SING MONDAY

Frank S. Pierce, director of the Monday night programs presented in the Educational building of the First Christian church, announced that the Swiss Echo Yodelers, which he said are the only three and four part yodelers in this country, will be featured next Monday night.

This group of entertainers, according to Pierce represented Switzerland during the Olympic games in Los Angeles, through their appearance before the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and many of the Southern California colleges and churches as well as on the radio.

Members of the group are Mr. Fraunfelder and his four children. The youngest child in the group is four years old and is soloist for the group. The other three range in age from 9 to 13 years. In addition to the group of yodelers a motion picture of Winter Sports in Switzerland will be offered.

Man Injured In Fall At Fullerton

Allan Lichtner, said to be an employee of the city of Fullerton, fell from a scaffolding on the Fullerton stadium CWA project Thursday and received minor injuries, according to A. E. Comito, of the CWA compensation department.

Lichtner was unconscious for a few minutes and was taken to a hospital where it was learned that his injuries were slight. He returned to work within the hour Comito said.

Nelson, head of the English department who will bring the message at the morning service in addition to speaking at the Sunday School hour.

The Rev. Mr. Owings is extending a special invitation to all young people of the city who are connected with the University of Redlands or who are planning a college course, to attend services Sunday and meet Dr. Nelson and hear his talk on the work of the Baptist college.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Jesus' Power To Help

Text: Matt. 8:1-9:34
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for February 18
BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

In this lesson Jesus appears in two distinctive phases of his personality and influence. We see him in the presence of the sick and needy, ministering comfort and, along with his comfort, bringing healing of body and soul; and we see him also in the alluring power of his personality, drawing men to him and into the inner circle of devotion and discipleship.

No man, however, no matter how fine his character or how beautiful his deeds, is free from the criticism of those whose religion moves in the realm of form and prejudice.

In proportion as the religion of men is loveless, they are bitter against those who dare to speak of religion in terms of reality and love. Jesus, in healing the man sick of the palsy, assured the unfortunate man of good cheer, because his sins were forgiven. The idea that any man could forgive sins roused the conventionally religious to wrath. If Jesus had no power to forgive sins they might at least have let the matter pass without great ado, but that is not the way of the narrow and the bigoted.

To them a matter of that sort was much more important than the healing of a fellow mortal from a dread disease, and when Jesus manifested his power in the healing of the man it made no difference to them. Their hearts still were full of bigotry, and they hated and persecuted Jesus.

How different was the reaction of the multitude, many of whom, no doubt, made no great profession of religion! When they saw that the man was healed, they marveled, and they glorified God because he had given such power to heal.

Following this incident, we have recorded the call of Matthew, who, we are told, was sitting at the receipt of customs. A teacher of religion, who could lure a man away from a government job to accept all the uncertainties and perils of allegiance to a prophet proclaiming what seemed to be a new sort of religious teaching, indeed must have been great. The incident was all the more remarkable, inasmuch as the friends of Matthew apparently were not those who were recognized as particularly religious.

We do not know just where Jesus went when Matthew arose and followed him, but we have the description of his being entertained in a house where many who were not among the conventionally religious and who were described as publicans and sinners sat down. The chances are that some of these had witnessed the miracle and had heard the words of Jesus and were drawn either by curiosity or by some inner response to a greatness they perceived in Jesus himself.

Such a sight was too much for the proud people who had faith in their own righteousness and who looked down upon those who were not as good as themselves. They could not withhold their indignation, but asked the disciples why Jesus should eat in that way with publicans and sinners.

With what plain effective words Jesus answered them! "They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick."

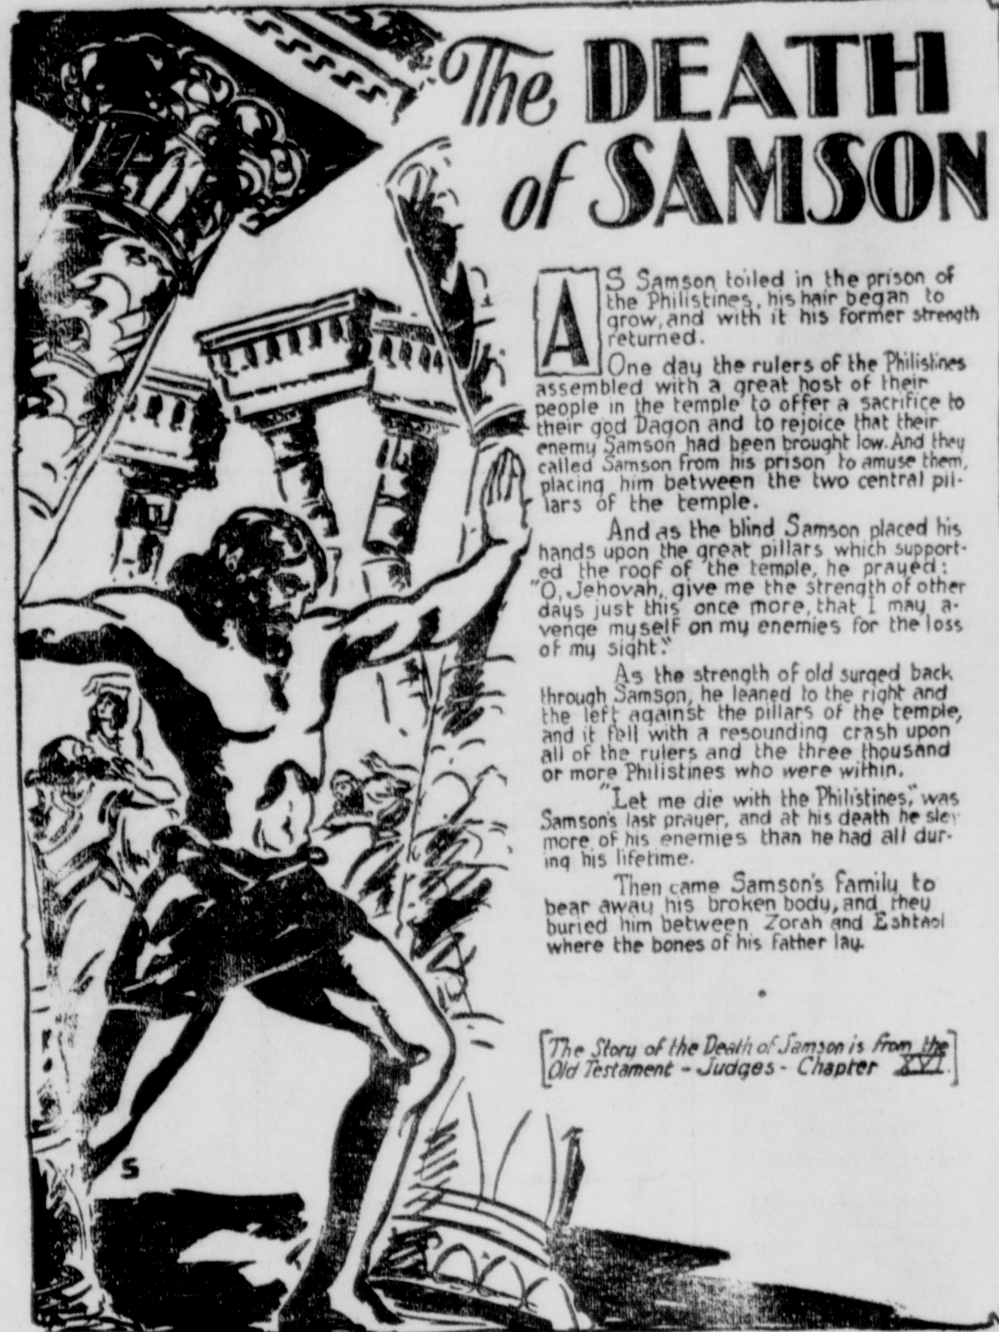

The man whose goodness takes him away from his fellow men and leads him to distrust or despise others well may doubt the genuineness of his own goodness.

The greatest souls in history have been large and tolerant in their human contacts. They have felt their kinship with the sinful and with the poor and the needy, and even at the height of their religious experience, when they have viewed the high standard of Christ, they have cried with real sincerity, "God be merciful to me, a sinner."

The DEATH of SAMSON

As Samson toiled in the prison of the Philistines, his hair began to grow, and with it his former strength returned.

One day the rulers of the Philistines assembled with a great host of their people in the temple to offer a sacrifice to their god Dagon and to rejoice that their enemy Samson had been brought low. And they called Samson from his prison to amuse them, placing him between the two central pillars of the temple.

And as the blind Samson placed his hands upon the great pillars which supported the roof of the temple, he prayed: "O Jehovah, give me the strength of other days just this once more, that I may avenge myself on my enemies for the loss of my sight."

As the strength of old surged back through Samson, he leaned to the right and the left against the pillars of the temple, and it fell with a resounding crash upon all of the rulers and the three thousand or more Philistines who were within.

Let me die with the Philistines," was Samson's last prayer, and at his death he slew more of his enemies than he had all during his lifetime.

Then came Samson's family to bear away his broken body, and they buried him between Zorah and Eshtai where the bones of his father lay.

The Story of the Death of Samson is from the Old Testament—Judges—Chapter XVI

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The little fly was quite surprised. It said, "I never realized that I would ever meet a person quite as kind as you."

"The spider's web holds me so tight that, honestly, I'm filled with fright. I'm glad you'll help me out, 'cause there is nothing I can do."

"Well, just hold still. Don't move around and I think some way can be found to set you free," said Doty. "Gee, this web is rather tough."

"I'll lend a hand," said Scouty. "I'm glad to help you free a fly. Just pull some of the web strands far, far out. Ah, that's the stuff."

The little fly then wiggled loose, and Doty said, "Now, there's no use in hanging 'round here, little fly. You'd best fly out of sight."

"That's just what I am going to do," came the reply. "Much thanks to you! I thought I was a goner, sure, but now I'm quite all right."

They waited for a little while, and then brave Doty, with a smile, said, "Look! The spider's waking up. Perhaps we'd better run."

"Oh, no," snapped Doty. "I'll explain! If he gets mad, 'twill be in vain. There's nothing, now, that he can do to undo what we've done."

The spider then jumped up and cried, "Ah, ha! There was a

THE PRICE TO THE CONSUMER WOULD HELP SOLVE THE PROBLEM

All people must regret the conditions that exist in Imperial county. A report on the conditions there, consisting of 30 pages, has just been issued by a federal commission. This commission was appointed by Senator Robert F. Wagner of the National Labor board. It consisted of Simon J. Lubin, chief of the Bureau of Commerce at San Francisco, Professor J. L. Leonard of the University of Southern California, and Will J. French of San Francisco, who was formerly a member of the State Industrial Accident commission.

They spent most of their time in Imperial Valley from the 29th of January until the 7th of February. In speaking of the general conditions, their statement is very illuminating. They declare: "The small farmer has practically disappeared from Imperial Valley; 90 per cent of the land, in fact, is in the hands of a small group of men who plant, harvest and market the crops. Most of the actual work in the fields is done by dark-skinned races—Mexicans, Filipinos, and Japanese."

In regard to the labor situation, they agree with Campbell McCullough, secretary of the Los Angeles Regional Labor board, who issued a report last month. They say: "Wages are only 22 1-2 cents per hour, with often but two or three hours work per day." The sanitary and living conditions are described in the report, and the squalor, filth and crowding of the people is very serious.

But it is in regard to individual rights that the report should be read with exceedingly great care by all citizens. It says:

We uncovered sufficient evidence to convince us that in more than one instance the law was trampled under foot by representative citizens of Imperial county and by public officials under oath to import the law.

In the first place, indiscriminate arrests are not likely to increase respect for authority. . . . The right of free speech and assembly was denied. Even the Federal Court's injunction was jeered at, as is evidenced by this quotation from an editorial in the "Brawley News" of January 26th, credited to the "Morning Farmer." The reference is to the abduction of a representative of the American Civil Liberties Union who was scheduled to preside at a workers' meeting. This paper said:

"It was not mob violence, it was a studied, organized movement of citizens seeking the only way out of difficulties threatening the community's peace, when the hands of the law were shown to be ineffectual. . . . The Federal Court injunction restraining officers from interfering with a meeting of the strikers was an example."

A feature article in the San Diego "Sun" of February 7th quotes a state peace officer in these words: "If that (federal) court in San Diego grants a permanent injunction interfering with officers and keeping them from breaking up these agitators' meetings here in the valley there will be blood-shed!"

The actual abduction of the representative of the American Civil Liberties union had not been denied.

The recommendations of this commission have been broadly printed in the news columns of various papers.

There are some observations we should like to make upon this situation. It appears that the pickers received $2.25 a day. This is a reasonable wage. They are asking for a cent and a half a pound. We should judge by the facts that they are receiving about a cent a pound.

We looked over the advertised price of peas in our own paper last night. We found fresh peas advertised for sale, "tender and sweet," for three cents a pound, or five pounds for 15 cents. We wondered if right at that point isn't part of the cause of the trouble. The idea of the consumers of peas getting them for three cents a pound! We must know, when we buy vegetables at such prices, it is not money enough to pay a living wage to the retailer, the trucker, the pickers and the grower.

Someone, if not several, are being "gypped," in order that the rest of us may get produce for less than the actual cost of production. This is something to ponder over. We are extremely apt to think with our pocketbooks and our desires, rather than with our brains. Because we do not like a thing and it hurts us, we are inclined to take the wrong side of it, in relation to human rights.

We will cite an instance of our own. We promptly signed up with the NRA, under the blanket code. We thought we were fulfilling its requirements. A short time afterward we were cited by our compositors' union, claiming a violation. We do not believe we violated the code. We think they were wrong about it, and they undoubtedly thought we were wrong. We didn't like for them to cite us to the NRA authorities. But they believed we had violated it.

They felt their rights were being invaded. They had a perfect right to appeal to the board in such an instance. That is what the board is for. And we believe we ought to maintain the position of protection of their rights in so doing, even though it hurts. It not only is the right thing to do, but incidentally it is the politic thing to do. We support them in rights that may seem to hurt or injure us. We will expect that in the reversal of the situation, when we have rights, even though they may hurt them, they will support us in our position.

Our national administration has great problems. Large amounts of money have been appropriated to help all in difficulty. For Imperial Valley, there has been an appropriation for an All-American canal. For the farmers and ranchers in need, there is the Federal Farm loan, for which relief we have all been working. For the home owner there is the Home Owners' Loan corporation, and so forth all down the line.

The administration has tried to help the wage earner also under the NRA. Undoubtedly some of the wage earners in Imperial valley imagine that there is protection afforded them under the NRA. They are mistaken, because the NRA does not apply to agricultural workers. But the general laws do, and the object of the government is to help all. We cannot expect, as a special interest, to receive help, and then combine against other groups to deny them help.

The most unfortunate results, however, from denial of rights, are the development and the inflaming of public opinion over the country by the announcement of such attitude. Relatively, the wage earners are extremely few in number in Orange county or Imperial valley. Many of them are not voters. But when their rights are denied, these announcements are made to the great industrial centers throughout the middle west and the east, where wage earners outnumber the employers or the small capitalists 50 or 100 to one.

Our society is a total organization; we are a part of the whole. Injustice and wrong breed discontent. Continued, it produces extremists.

This commission's report very wisely suggests: "While the number of workers in the new union is unknown, we are firmly of the opinion that the best way to remove agitation and radicalism, is to eliminate those factors that give rise to dissatisfaction and complaint, especially when it must be conceded that there are good grounds for some of the allegations."

We cannot see when, under the NRA, there is the prohibition of selling goods, under certain codes, for less than the cost of production, plus a certain percentage for profit, why in this great seasonable labor production, there should not be constituted some provision whereby the prices that could be established, should at least cover the cost of production. This would include a decent living wage, so that just as we are trying to do in the wheat products, in the corn products, and in the textile industries, the consumer shall pay the real cost of production.

This would solve the problem, for let it be known that the employers are only fighting for their own existence when they are keeping costs of production down, including wages, so that they can get rid of their products in the competitive market and still live. The three-cent a pound for peas, to the consumer, speaks volumes.

PATHS FOR PEDESTRIANS AND BICYCLISTS

As our public officials have been looking for ways to spend public money, we would suggest walks for pedestrians and bicyclists removed from the regular highway.

There are few sources of danger to the careful driver greater than that of the pedestrian or the bicyclist at night. When we come across a pedestrian on our side of the road at night, very frequently the light from an oncoming automobile makes it impossible to see the pedestrian. There is the dark spot in the road because of our blinded eyes. An automobile has a tail-light and another light. Most of the bicycles do not; and the pedestrian never.

If there were a path for them, as there used to be years ago, before the days of the automobile, it would save many lives and remove a terrible burden of fear from the driver. It would not be terribly expensive, but it would be extremely valuable. It would be money well spent, and certainly more so than many of the things for which we are spending our money now.

Road Gardens For Texas

New York Herald-Tribune

Here in the North we have many beautiful and beloved trees to plant along our highways—bale, elm, oak, locust, tulip tree and mountain ash, walnut and beech—but when these are stripped for winter they offer only the austere grace of twig and branch against the sky. So, while prizeing our own, we still may envy the opportunities of Texas, now considering a vast plan for highway beautification. Along the roads that run league upon league across her prairies she can plant not only northern favorites but trees which all the year round are great, fragrant bouquets—trees such as we never even see up here, except in greenhouses. With nature so generous in providing the means for transforming monotonous highway into prolonged gardens, it would be a pity should threatened disputes between the state highway commission and the Texas relief administration blight such prodigious arboriculture.

Gutson Borglum, who makes his home in Texas and whose program has found favor with the state's relief administration, proposes a long avenue of palms for the lower Rio Grande valley to shade the highways south of San Antonio on through Corpus Christi and Laredo, "making the southern tip of Texas a subtropical paradise." And for other regions he would select from the abundant trees and shrubs indigenous to each. Some could be bordered with peonies, some with holly or yucca. Avenues of gardenias are not difficult for that fortunate land, and almost anywhere it should be possible to drive among those white oleanders which reflect moonlight, or the pink or deep rose oleanders whose fragrance so distracts bees and cruising butterflies. There can be magnolia and hibiscus roads; others of persimmon, cottonwood or live oak; roads of trees adorned with orchids and festooned with Spanish moss, smilax, passion vines, bougainvillea, jasmine. As "The Bryan Daily Eagle" says: "There is no reason why the highways of Texas should not be lanes of beauty."

But the possibility that most of all catches Northern fancy is that of a royal way of crape myrtle and jacaranda. The watermelon pink of crinkled crape myrtle petals beside great panicles of azure jacaranda flowers amid their ferny foliage is one of the most ravishing floral combinations earth affords, and it ought to be achieved in any climate that permits. Crape myrtle will grow, if cared for, anywhere in Texas, but jacarandas belong far south. One of the charms of re-aged Williamsburg, Va., is its crape myrtles. Lima, Peru, is famous for jacaranda trees, but the perfect alliance of the two used to be the base of Cuernavaca, Mexico, until a ruthless modern pest arrived not long ago to destroy the myrtles. If Texas, along her southernmost roads, can reunite these blue and rosy glories of the American tropics she will achieve a masterpiece of highway planting.

And manures his nails,
And feeds, with unaccustomed zest,
On lovey-dovey tales,
And never runs out on the lot
To join a baseball game,
He isn't ill—not Bill—he's got
A dame.

He hasn't any appetite,
He's lost his cheerful smile,
He's not been mixed up in a fight
For oh! a long, long while.
His pocket money goes for ties—
Red ties, that have a kick;
He wants to make those other guys
Look sick.

His father says, "What ails the kid?
That's what I want to know;
He doesn't eat the way he did
A week or two ago;
He once was rugged as a rock
But now he's pale and thin;
I think we'd better call the Doctor in."

But mother isn't worrying,
She's learned a cosmic truth,
Which is that swiftly love takes wing
In very early youth.
She doesn't entertain a doubt
That he's severely ill,
But well she knows he'll soon snap out
Of it.

NEEDLESS RANCOR

We cannot understand all this bitter dispute as to whether a "dogie" is a dog or a calf. Why don't somebody look at one and find out?

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Convalescing: Slowly getting over the idea that you won't be naughty any more.

If nature isn't cruel, why does a woman with a 220 lb. chassis have a lap-sitting disposition?

The ability to reason saves you a lot. You don't order steak in a restaurant that provides sharp knives.

There's little danger of revolution in a land where the cheapest car can't be passed by a swell one.

The code that fixes the value of your old car is now familiar to everybody except the tax man.

The old-time "$40 saddle on a $20 horse" was no worse than a $15 license plate on $10 worth of portable junk.

Russian women are demanding sporty clothes, and we are just wondering what kind of sport costume would go with a pick and shovel.

Sometimes fame is based on nothing. It was the hole, for instance that made the doughnut famous.

AMERICANISM: Making big talk about licking any nation on earth; helplessly living in dread of organized criminals at home.

South Americans who yearned to see us fall should be happy. They furnished a lot of the bonds and all of the banana skins. But people only curse the town Shylock only when he wants his money back—not when they are getting it.

Some people talk scandal and others can make people listen without using that method.

THE GARAGE MECHANIC IS A PROFESSIONAL MAN TOO. HE GETS PAID FOR TRYING WHETHER IT DOES ANY GOOD OR NOT.

You can't blame Japan. Licking set-ups has made many a fighter feel tougher than the facts justified.

That is, supply exceeds demand in every instance if you don't count bait for suckers.

Act I: He wrathfully clogs the neighbor's bothersome chickens. Act II: He wonders why nations make war.

Thoughts On Modern Life

REVISING TRADE UNIONISM

I was damned as a liberal gone reactionary by many readers when, some months ago, I said in these articles that, in my judgment, traditional trade unionism is today challenged to extensive revision of form and function just as traditional business, traditional industry and traditional finance are challenged.

I was accused of giving aid and comfort to the enemy when I suggested that the American Federation of Labor should not assume or the Federal Government concede that the existing forms of labor organization are exempt from the necessity of revision and reform while all the rest of the economic structure of the nation is hauled before the judgment bar of the New Deal.

One thing I had in mind in making these statements was that the craft union is probably an obsolete form of labor organization that must sooner or later give way to the industrial union form of organization.

Every passing day strengthens my conviction that this is true. The American Federation of Labor cannot straddle this issue indefinitely.

A determined element in the ranks of American labor will not finally submit to the craft union steam roller. The best estimate available to me would indicate that roughly 1,000,000 of the workers brought into the Federation in its membership drive under the NRA came in through federal unions. These federal unions take in all the workers in a plant instead of splitting them into various craft unions.

It was a gain for the principle of the industrial over the craft union to have the Federation take these 1,000,000 workers in on this basis.

It will be necessary for the leadership of this new movement to watch the corners for some time to come. The old guard leaders have not put all the cards on the table yet. There will be a determined, if under cover, attempt to head off the new movement.

Good luck to the new deal in the forms and functions of trade unionism!

NO INTEREST

"Ellen is not feeling well. She is slow and finds it hard to get anything done. I think she needs some attention from the doctor."

"I had her to the doctor last month. He said she had to have a warm bath every night and a sponge with cold water and alcohol every morning. She was to go to bed at seven thirty and rise at seven. Her diet was all written down. She must have milk and eggs and vegetables and cereals and all that. But she isn't a bit interested. I can't get her to do a thing."

"She won't do it herself, of course. She has gotten into the way of eating what she likes and doing as she pleases. Her way has not worked very well. She'll have to be helped to do these things until she likes to do them. Then she will be interested."

"How can you make a child like to do what she doesn't like to do. Tell me that. I've done my best and she won't eat for me. I can't make her sleep, if she doesn't want to sleep, can I?"

"No, I'd make a chart for her. A weekly chart. Put down what she is to do, the time, and what and how, and leave a place for the record. When she has a good record to show reward her."

"Well, I'll try. But don't expect too much. She isn't interested a bit."

"Please try. Ellen is getting thin and her work is falling steadily behind. I'll do my best from this end. Maybe together we can get her started."

"Ellen," said the teacher that afternoon, "I wish you were a bit stronger. I'd like to take you and Martha and Susie to the circus when it comes to the city. It's a long trip. You couldn't stand it, could you? If only—Well, I suppose you can't help it. Are you drinking any milk?"

"Sometimes. But I don't like it."

"Too bad. Martha drinks a quart every day and she is as strong as a young pony."

"I don't like milk."

"In a day or so the teacher said, 'Children, the circus is coming to the city next month. I've asked your fathers and mothers to let me take you in the bus. We'll
